I would consider this scenario the most likely one today, because the downward impulse is not yet taking shape, and the bounce off the 50% level looks very promising.
We're seeing a downward correction that could be Wave 2, which I mentioned on Friday.
From an impulse perspective, the current pattern can be viewed as a WXYXZ correction, and we can expect long-term growth in the direction of the previous impulse.

My thoughts.
We saw a bearish triangle in Wave 4.
A triangle is usually followed by the final wave in the cycle—in this case, a short Wave 5a.
A sharp rebound followed immediately, so I think the bearish trend is over and the market has turned bullish.
Holding long.

For now, I'm staying out of the market and waiting for a new, clear setup. It's better not to rush.
Be careful—this is a very confusing situation.
For now, the market is clearly finding resistance at the previous high.
